

Michelle McVicker
Principal Assistant Inspector General for Investigations
U.S. Department of Transportation
Office of Inspector General (OIG)

Ms. McVicker is the Principal Assistant Inspector General for Investigations. In this capacity, she oversees the OIG's investigative staff, which includes approximately 120 special agents, investigators, administrative assistants and attorneys. The investigative staff conducts a wide range of investigations relative to fraud waste and abuse, along with criminal safety cases within the Department, its programs and grantees. Over the past two decades, she has worked and supervised criminal, civil and administrative cases including those involving disadvantaged business enterprises, multimillion dollar construction contracts, aviation safety, commercial drivers' license testing, automobile safety defects, and pipelines and hazardous materials investigations.

Ms. McVicker has been with DOT/OIG since 1990, serving previously as the Special Agent-in-Charge of the Chicago Regional Office, Assistant Special Agent-in-Charge of the Los Angeles, CA sub-office and as a special agent. She has presented numerous Contract Fraud Prevention and Awareness and Hazmat Briefings to DOT stakeholders, along with Federal and State law enforcement agencies and industry officials. Ms. McVicker co-led the OIG-wide Mentoring and Job Shadow Programs from their inception. She has attended numerous supervisory, management, leadership, and coaching courses over the past several years. She has received multiple awards, such as the OIG's Meritorious Service and Leadership Awards.

Ms. McVicker received a B.A in Criminal Justice from Illinois State University, Normal, IL in 1990. She is married, has three children and lives in Vienna, VA.
