The image contains a map of Hancock County, Illinois, with various road and geographic features labeled. The map includes a legend with different symbols and colors indicating various types of roads and boundaries. There are also insets and details in the text area of the map, which likely provide additional information about the regions and features depicted on the map. The map is part of a larger collection of maps from the Illinois Department of Transportation.